WE FACILITATE AND GET THINGS DONE!
So that artisan&designers can focus on being creative.

ATLANTE Design is an international B2B commercial consultancy specializing in handmade, authorial design.

We represent a curated portfolio of artisans & designers who prioritize quality over quantity and embrace sustainable practices in sourcing and production. Through these partnerships, we offer a diverse and high-quality selection of materials and products tailored to discerning buyers and brands seeking authenticity, craftsmanship, and responsible innovation.

Everything is made to order, customizable and artisanal.

We specialise in creating a link between the designers and their products with the right retailers and galleries, the buyers and the specifier.

We focus on building trusted creative partnerships, curating collaborations, supporting emergent designers and S.M.E.s, introducing designers and makers to new audiences, maintaining continuity and reputation.

Handmade Porcelain Tiles

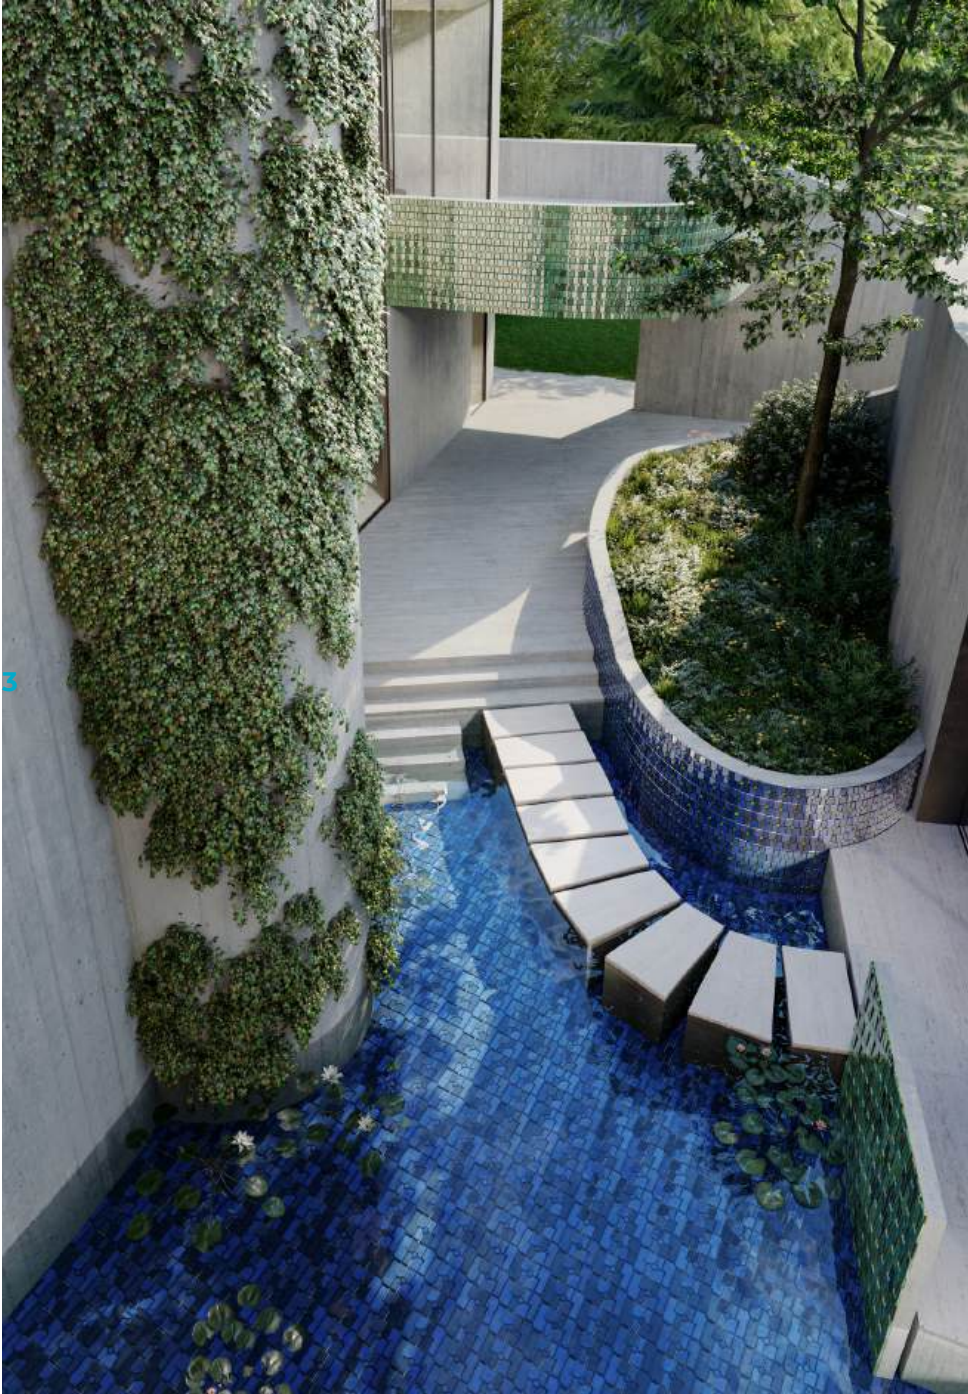

When innovation meets passion and tradition.

The richness of porcelain translates into three-dimensional surfaces with an extraordinary variety of colors and textures, evoking inspirations ranging from classic art and pre-Columbian mythology to art deco and 1950s punk fashion references.

Looking to the future, the commitment remains to exploring new frontiers, collaborating with visionary designers, and introducing groundbreaking porcelain solutions for architecture and design.

Ninefifty

Lavastone & Handmade Terracotta Tiles

A journey began in Caltagirone, a city renowned for the production of artistic ceramics and whose urban landscape is a testament to humanity's creative genius. This is where Nicolò and Fausto – flanked by the creative direction of Margherita Rui – created Ninefifty. The ninefifty range of floor and wall tiles is the result of research, experimentation and analyses into the methods and processes possible with these materials.

This is how ninefifty floor and wall tiles are made, working by hand, using new processes to reinterpret ancient methods in a way that is consistent with a modern vision of production. Ninefifty is a net zero company, they have decided to invest in a sustainable business strategy that extends from their products to their business structure: a short supply chain that lets us have a good degree of control over raw material quarrying.

FURNITURE

Dante Negro

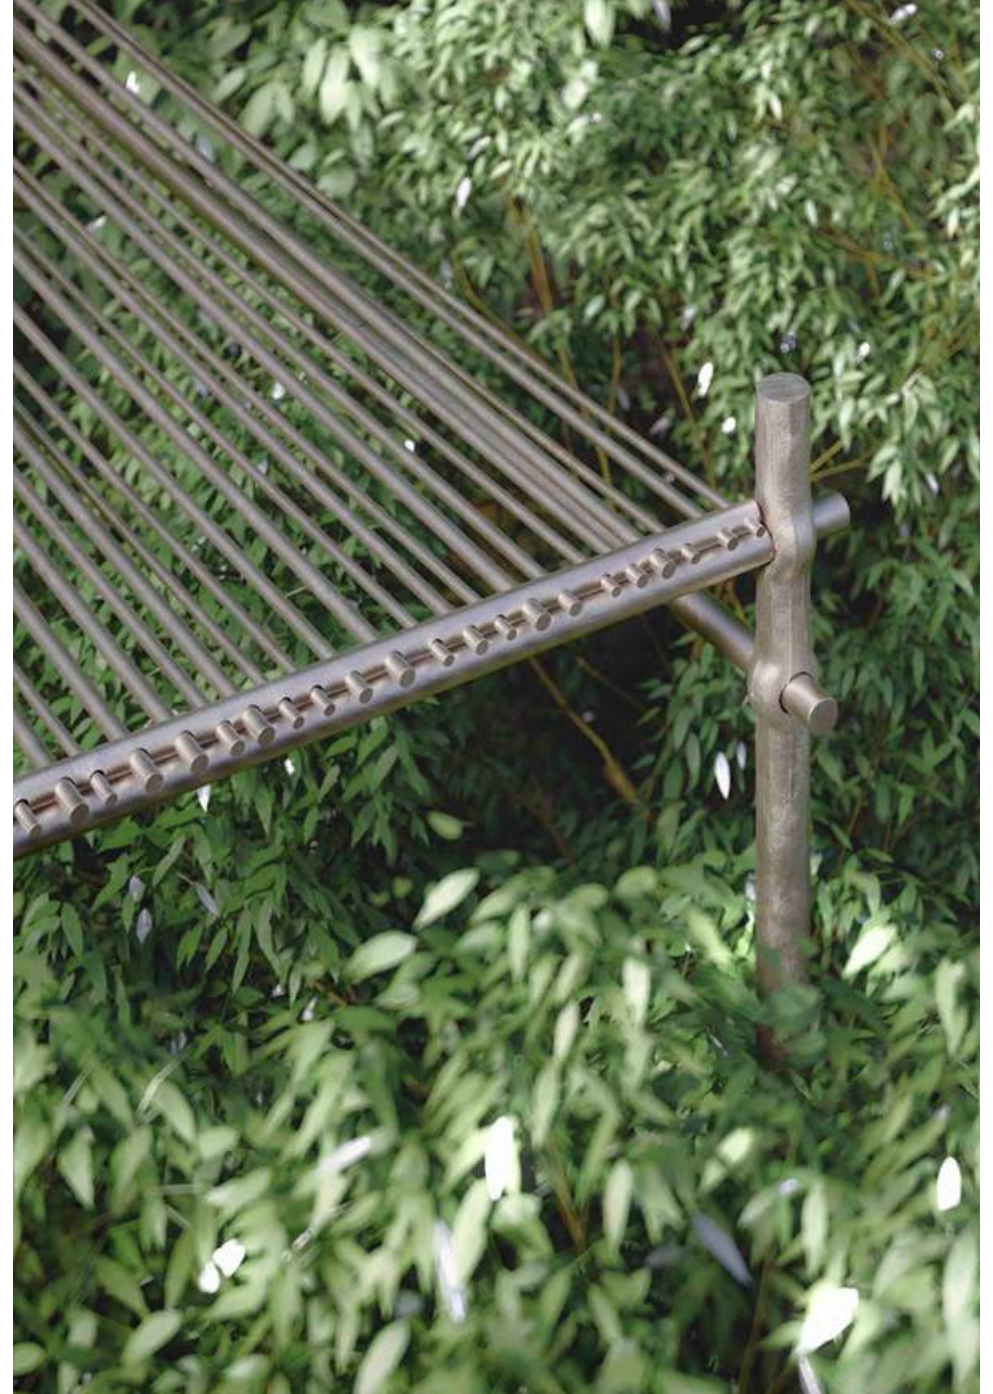

Outdoor Furniture

Dante Negro has been forging outdoor furnishings since 1964. In recent years, after having handed it down from father to son, the company has been transformed into a contemporary brand with an international scope focused on the culture of design, under the Creative Direction of Margherita Rui.

Three outdoor collections, a bespoke service and a network of artisans. Glass, wood and marble are just some of the materials that metal has been combined with to bring to life designs of varying degrees of complexity conceived by architects and designers.

Dante Negro is a production district, a group of businesses able to answer to any demand and rise to any design challenge

Giovanni Botticelli

Mirrors and Lightings

With a strong focus on creating mirrors that could express his needs for beauty, arts and functionality, Giovanni Botticelli is a Rome-based designer whose practice encompasses product, furniture, eyewear design and experimental works, often transcending the distinctions between different fields of creativity.

Botticelli's practice contemplates both industrial production and artisan techniques focusing on ceramics, glass and metal expanding his expertise through formative experiences at ENSA in Limoges and Abate Zanetti in Murano. His way of working with materials normally used by specific industries and reinvented and adapted to everyday objects like the use of the cellulose acetate makes his works new and sophisticated.
